Grand-Toned Uprights, $875

Pianists have always preferred the grand piano for two reasons -for its tone of greater richness, depth, volume-and an ease of touch that permits the utmost grace or the extreme of power in musical expression. Until Steinway & Sons' marvelous improvement of the upright, these attributes of the grand never had been thought possible to the cabinet piano. Now there is a Steinway for every home, even the smallest house or the little apartment-a piano that occupies the very minimum of space and yet approaches maximum result in tone volume, tone beauty, tone richness—and a touch that permits the moulding of that tone like a voice. And these pianos have all the qualities of "everlasting wear" that have made Steinway the most durable and the most economical of pianos. Time payments.
